TWENTY-SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Year C

27th to 28th August 2022

REFLECTION

Eccles 3:17-18, 20, 28-29

Psalms 67

Heb 12:18-19, 22-24

Lk 14:1, 7-14

The readings today are an admonition to remaining humble at all times: "My child, conduct your affairs with humility" we are told in the Book of Ecclesiastes. Humility is an unattractive virtue that makes a person truly attractive to God and people. The Psalm is a song that is meant to encourage the poor and humble people. "God, in your goodness, you have made a home for the poor." When we feel so low and overwhelmed by problems and our inadequacies, we just have to reflect on this particular Psalm and be encouraged and inspired to move on. The realization of our final destination referred to in the Letter to the Hebrews should make us absolutely humble, and at the same time, this gives us confidence and encouragement to remain faithful to God in spite of all adversities we encounter and all hostilities against us. The Gospel is the parable that Jesus told on the importance of the virtue of humility. In the kingdom of God, the law of humility is essential: "For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the one who humbles himself will be exalted."
